

A stone memorial monument stands in a wooded area with autumn foliage. The monument is a tall, rectangular structure made of dark grey stones. Atop the monument is a bronze sculpture of a bird, possibly a phoenix or eagle, perched on a spherical base. A dark plaque with inscriptions is mounted on the front of the monument. At the base of the monument, several garlands and ribbons are laid out. One large garland features yellow and orange flowers and a ribbon with the German flag colors (black, red, and gold) and a white ribbon with a cross symbol. Two smaller garlands are also present, one with a white ribbon and another with a purple ribbon. The ground is paved with grey stones, and the background consists of trees with brown and yellow leaves under an overcast sky.
